

2012 St. Martin Parish 4-H Broiler Show Results

The 2012 St. Martin Parish Broiler Show was held on Wednesday, February 8, 2012. Four-H'ers raised their broiler chicks from one day of age, and fifteen exhibitors showed their top three birds as a pen at five weeks of age. The birds were judged on conformation, fleshing, uniformity and finish. The champion pen and the reserve champion pen both weighed in at 16 ½ pounds.

Raising broilers can be lots of fun! Broiler projects are suitable for youth of all ages, especially those with limited space for housing animals. The primary objective of producing broilers is to optimize growth, so 4-H'ers learn important life skills while being concerned with the following: housing, brooding, heating, lighting, feeders and waterers, feeds and feeding, and health. By setting up a daily routine of care and following recommendations, youth can have a very successful and rewarding show project. The results of the 2012 show are as follows:
